A Community Celebration: Culture Makes Us Strong and Resilient!

On Saturday, March 14th, two local nonprofits will sponsor and host a community, multi-cultural event at the Aurora Strong Resilience Center, 1298 Peoria Street, from 10 am to 3 pm, entitled “ A Community Celebration: Culture Makes Us Strong and Resilient.” This is a celebration of three cultures, featuring immigrants and refugees from Mexico, Bhutan, and the Sudan. Community members will share different aspects of culture, including food, dance, poetry, music, crafts, and traditional dress. In addition, opportunities will be available for participants to engage in ongoing wellness activities such as martial arts, meditation and healing arts.

The event is free to the public, and participants should enter the building at the south side garden entrance. There is free public parking on the east of side of the building, which is the Hoffman Heights Municipal Services Center.

The Missions of both The Banyan Tree and the Aurora Strong Resilience Center focus on the building of human resilience – strength – at the community, family and individual levels. Please come and celebrate some of the wonderful diversity of Aurora this weekend!
